Declaration

We give Hodge authority to accept payments on our behalf from the above named authorised parties and provide information or documentation relating to our mortgage account(s) (including any information about the balance, account conduct and arrears). We understand that Hodge will not be responsible for any person we have given authority to, under this authority using the information or documentation provided to them by Hodge in an inappropriate manner.

We understand that Hodge will conduct electronic identification and verification checks on the named third party, for anti-money laundering purposes. Hodge may also need to ask us for further information should they require additional identification or verification evidence in respect of the authorised party. Authorisation does not alter the terms of the contract between us and (where we have a mortgage) the authorised party will have no interest (financial or otherwise) in the mortgaged property.

We understand that Hodge reserves the right to decline or cancel this authorised person authority at any time without prior notice being given. ALL customers for whom the authorised party is to act must sign this form.
